GOOD STORIES OF DIAMOND, TRACK, AND PRIZE RING.

Three Strikes and You're Out—If You Fellows Had Let Me Alone I Would Have Won All the Money.—Texas Tom Walsh

Timothy Hurst, the famous amateur and referee, whose "blow" more bank rolls than any man in the country to the other. "Back in 1915 Eddie Jones, now the manager of the Chicago White Stockings, joined the Brooklyn team. Treasday was playing center field for Brooklyn then, and young Jones was sitting on the bench. Chicago was playing Brooklyn down on the old Eastern Park grounds, and the late and much lamented Jim Donohue was catching. Early in the game Treasday made a vicious kick on one of Hurst's decisions, and Hurst merely hid his time and looked on. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many talents.
